

WE NOMINATE

Edmund Newton Harvey, Princeton University's Henry Fairfield Osborn Professor of Biology, whose far-reaching research on luminescence, or "living light," has permitted scientists to gain new knowledge in various fields of biology, including those concerned with immunity, viruses, disinfection, narcosis, anaesthesia, blood and reproduction. It was the work of this pioneering Princetonian (a 64-year old native of Philadelphia) and his associates that established luminescence as a laboratory tool of unparalleled efficiency, one which has been accorded a key role in the program of basic research on cancer.

Called to Princeton in 1911 when Guyot Hall, headquarters of the departments of Biology and Geology, was to the University plant what the new Library is to the campus of today, Harvey won renown in his early 30's with the appearance of his first major volume and within 15 years succeeded in making Princeton the world's foremost center for the study of the phenomenon of luminescence. He has since been decorated by a grateful U. S. government, has received the highest distinction the Republic of Brazil can confer upon a non-citizen and has twice been awarded honors reserved for outstanding contributions to fundamental biological research.

Indicative of the position Harvey holds in this "era of science" was the press coverage of the Sigma Xi lecture he delivered a fortnight ago at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Harvey reported that one of his Princeton colleagues, H. S. Mason, had isolated two new types of light-giving chemicals produced by a luminescent living organism, an announcement which lead The New York Times to predict that "man may at last solve the secret of the firefly and usher in a new age of chemical illumination."

Harvey, whose wife is a noted scientist in her own right, makes a habit of stretching his workdays to the nth degree. In recent years, while finishing a volume on bioluminescence that will be published this month, he has lectured in such widely separated places as Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Bombay, India, and has held such time-consuming assignments as a sectional chairmanship within the National Research Council, acting for the American Cancer Society. He is currently serving as a trustee of both the Bermuda Biological Station and the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole.

For his achievements in the realm of pure research; for proving himself a wonderfully inspirational teacher as well as an authoritative scientist; for thinking less than any one else of the fact that he has now completed four decades of distinguished service here in Princeton; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Topics of the Town

Taxes Make News, January is a time for tax talk, and so far the beleaguered public had good news.
B. Woodhull Davis, supervising principal of schools, announced this week that the board of education was asking for an increase in funds 40% smaller than last year. Early estimates set the jump in the tax rate for school purposes at about 6½ points; the borough's own budget and that of the county's,
each of which determine a third of the rate, will not be made public until near the end of the month.
The latest increase, Mr. Davis reported, will be some $21,600 if approved by the voters, as opposed to the $34,500 boost they authorized a year ago. The total increase is some $52,600 but tuition payments from sending districts will net $31,000 of this sum.

The additional funds will permit normal salary increases under the existing schedule, will make possible the hiring of more teachers to meet an anticipated increase in school population, and will offset the constantly rising costs in maintenance and repairs as well as all types of supplies. A public hearing on the budget has been set for January 22 and the date for its passage, together with balloting
for school board members, is February 13.

Shoe on the Other Foot. In Princeton township no figures had yet been made public, but it was no secret that a big jump in the tax rate was on the way. A preliminary statement by the board of education has frankly declared that a "substantial increase is unavoidable."

One report current this week
was that the municipality's tax rate would top the $5 mark. If so,
the township's figure would, in all probability, surpass the borough's
for the first time and it might well be residents of the borough who would be wary of often-discussed consolidation.

No New State Taxes. Meanwhile
in Trenton, Governor Driscoll said in his annual message to the Legislature that the State could expect to complete another year without the enactment of additional taxes. Nationally, financial demands on the people are at an all-time high, the Governor pointed out, and "we are prepared to carry on the normal functions of our government within the presently available resources."

Mr. Driscoll (who this week
backed General Eisenhower's campaign for President and may himself be mentioned for second place on the Republican ticket) urged that a State Law Enforcement Council be created. Its proposed five members, to serve without pay,
would develop programs to eliminate the basic causes of crime; improve criminal laws to make them

more effective; and coordinate existing law enforcement facilities.
Governor Driscoll also urged the addition of another 100 State Police; another $25,000,000 bond issue for the improvement of state institutions; an end of the disputed caucus system in the legislature; increased State aid for education; and more effective prosecution of automobile drivers involved in fatal accidents.

Bank Statement. The week also brought a report to the Princeton community on the growth during 1951 of its biggest center of business activity, The First National Bank. During the 12-month period, its deposits increased by nearly half a million dollars and stood, on December 31, at $18,471,546.81.

 board of directors, noted the bank's ability to pay its usual $5 semi-annual dividend, plus a $3 extra payment; as well as a 5% salary bonus and an additional $100 to every employee to offset the mounting cost of living. Mr. Hoff pointed to the bank's capital funds (now more than $1,000,000), its investments of nearly $15,000,000; and its deposits, which have approached $20,000,000, as proof that the bank "is one of the largest sources of credit available to the citizens of Princeton and the surrounding country."

Bank president John P. Poe cited numerous revealing statistics in his report but pointed out that "mere figures always tend to be dry, lifeless things, while this bank of ours is something we like to think of as an alive, vital and helpful unit in the life of our community." But the figures talked eloquently:

As of December 31, the bank could claim more than 7,100 checking accounts and 8,400 interest accounts.

Some two million deposit slips and checks on the First National or other banks were handled, a figure equal to 8,000 items per business day exclusive of currency and coins. The latter alone average out to $3,000 weekly, wrapped and distributed to various business and professional firms.

The Christmas Club had nearly 2,500 members. More than 11,000 government savings bonds were handled, and $300,000 worth of travelers' checks were written.

Like deposits, Mr. Poe reported that loans and discounts increased approximately half a million dollars during 1951. Loans helped meet many family needs, from automobiles to bills for education and illness. More than 600 families (nearly half under the G.I. Bill) are financing their homes through the First National, he reported.

Steady growth of the Trust Department, plans to construct new vaults and enlarge the building to improve customer facilities when the steel shodage is alleviated; and the constant addition of new labor-saving devices to speed the bank's services were other highlights of Mr. Poe's annual message. He showed, too, that although the bank's total assets were some 19 1/2 million dollars, net earnings of $114,000 (before taxes) amounted to less than one percent.

"Put another way," he pointed out, "for each $100 we had to work with, we were able to earn about 83 cents. To me, this seems like a very modest brokerage."

"There has long been a popular belief that the banking business is a royal road to riches. Perhaps this analysis will do something to dispel that superstition. Personally, I know of no other business that operates on so small a profit margin."

Eisenhower in, Alexander Out. General Eisenhower's implication in Paris that he would accept the Republican presidential nomination if it is given him next June is expected to have a direct effect on the New Jersey senatorial race. The net result is foreseen as elimination as a possible candidate of Archibald Alexander, able young Princeton graduate who is now Under secretary of the Army.

Senator H. Alexander Smith, Republican incumbent, announced his Expansion Furniture. Simple modern furniture, so tidy it will fit the smallest apartment, yet expandable enough to grow when you build a ranch house—that's Planner Group furniture at Nassau Interiors, 162 Nassau. It's solid birch, finished in natural, satiny black, or a combination of both—a marvelous finish, almost like formica, yet subtle and without gloss.

You can buy one drawer, two drawers or three drawers, all 24 inches wide, and, according to your fancy, make chests by mounting them atop benches which come in 9, 15 or 19-inch heights. The bench legs screw in, and you can unscrew them yourself for packing, or just for rearranging the furniture. When you decide to set the piece up permanently, you can use the glue and permanent screws that come with the bench.

There are so many pieces we couldn't possibly price them all for you, but to give you an idea: a 24-inch, three-drawer chest in natural birch is $59.95; bench to go under it is about $14.95 (depends on size you choose). A streamlined captain's chair is $19.95. Prices are about $3 more in black.

You can have either a drop-leaf or extension table for dining, and besides these, there's the neatest permanent card-table we have ever seen, mounted on curved, black, wrought iron legs. A check for $39.95 will get you this, and once you have it, we'll bet you leave it right in the living room, bridge or no.

Aside from the card-table, the piece that struck our fancy most was a headboard bed cabinet (single, three-quarter or double bed sizes.) This features a shelf with sliding doors covered with a natural-hued fabric that looks like burlap. These sliding doors are the best device we've seen for concealing that Kleenex clutter that so many bedboards pick up after they have been used awhile.

You'll probably be interested in Planner Group's upholstered furniture, too; done in tweedy fabrics with no-sag spring construction. A trim-looking couch is $165. Armless chair is $59.50; armed, it's $89.95. For detailed information and illustrations, see pages 9 and 10.

Wrought Iron—Your Style. Can you think of any living room that wouldn't be enhanced by—well, let's say a pair of andirons, or maybe a simple pair of candlesticks, custom-made in wrought iron? If you've been caught up in the vogue for wrought iron, you'll be glad to hear about the Luron Manufacturing and Welding Company of Bordentown, where you can get practically anything you want in wrought iron, without middleman prices.

Luron is a four-year-old outfit whose parent and owner, Jack Ward, studied ironwork in New Orleans. (He's particularly proud of the way his firm turns out railings aux vieux Carre.)

Ward started by himself, after he got out of the Air Force, and now he has an eight-man staff, all veterans. In this line of work, a retail approach is unique; Ward points out that if you deal through a con—Continued on Page 11

WINTER SPORTS HEAD

Peter J. McCrohan, a well-known member of the Police Department, has again been named to supervise skating and sledding activity in Princeton.

intention to seek the office again as far back as last July. The Democrats have another two months or so to name his opponent, but have been hoping that Mr. Alexander would die as their candidate.

With the Eisenhower statement, it is believed that chances of Mr. Alexander's candidacy will vanish. He is said to feel it an unnecessary handicap to his political career to run at a time when the head of the opposition's ticket may sweep many a Republican into office with him, regardless of the respective ability of those on the ballot.

New Firm Formed. Announcement was made this week of the formation of the partnership of Rowland and Holland, whose members are Thomas M. Rowland and Edgar E. Holland of Princeton. With offices at 11 Chambers Street, they will operate "a complete insurance service."

The firm's senior partner, Mr. Rowland, has been a Princetonian for the past 17 years. Prior to four years in the army and with the Red Cross Overseas Service from 1942-46, he conducted his own insurance business here. For five years until his partnership with Mr. Holland was formed, he managed the insurance department of Edmund D. Cook.

Mr. Holland, who has lived here for more than six years, spent two years in the Army Air Forces during the last war and since that time has had some five years of sales experience, the last two in insurance sales here in Princeton. Both men are members of the Lions Club; Mr. Rowland is a former president, Mr. Holland the current secretary.

Safe Winter Sports. When the white flag with the red center flies from the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, skating will be safe on Lake Carnegie. When John Street and Linden Lane are closed to traffic, sledding will be permitted there.

These are the primary reminders issued this week by Peter J. McCrohan, named winter recreation supervisor again by the Playground Committee. Mr. McCrohan urged residents of the community to skate only when the ice is safe; not to skate near red flags placed where weak spots may exist; not to skate on remote parts of the lake and never to skate alone. Information on the condition of the ice may also be obtained by telephoning the

The group's performance, listed as the second in the University Concerts, Series II, will be given at a later date if possible and tickets dated January 11 will be honored then.

Players Pick Musical. "The Magic Well," a musical bearing the stamp of collaboration of P. MacKay Sturges and A. Munro Wade, will be given February 29 and March 1 in the McCarter by the Community Players. Mr. Sturges will serve as musical director, Paul Barstow as production manager and Tristram Johnson as stage manager.

Karl M. Light has been selected as director of the play, and will also have a leading part in the cast. Active in his undergraduate days with the Theatre Intime and University Players, Mr. Light has made three professional appearances in the past two seasons.

He was a member of the cast of "Romeo and Juliet," in which Olivia de Havilland starred; in the Ezra Stone production of "The Man Who Corrupted Hadleyburg," and in Maxwell Anderson's "Barefoot in Athens," which opened here last Fall. He is also seen frequently in leading television productions.

MONTGOMERY PLAYERS

Members of the Princeton Community Players are assisting the newly-formed Montgomery Players (residents of that nearby township) in their production of the thriller, "Night Must Fall," scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30. Performances will be given in the Harlingen Church House on Route 31, with proceeds benefitting Montgomery Township Fire Companies Nos. 1 and 2.

Thomas Potter of the Princeton Players is directing, with Mrs. Albert Van Zandt and Gustave Rehm of the Montgomery troupe in the principal roles. Tickets are available at Verbooy's on Talbot Street.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Janos Starker, Hungarian cellist,

will appear with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra as soloist at its next concert, Saturday, January 26, in the McCarter. In addition to the Haydn Concerto in D Major, in which Mr. Starker will be featured, the program will include works by Mozart, Rossini, Strauss and the Princeton composer, Andrew Fahrie.

The orchestra, directed by Nicholas Horszanyi, a faculty member at Westminster Choir College, includes among its membership many residents of Princeton and nearby communities. It will also give a matinee concert on the 26th, with the program designed especially for children. A narrator will explain the background of each selection before it is played.

Tickets for both concerts are available through the Princeton University Store. Mail and telephone orders will be filled.

Old Home Changes Hands. "Queen's Court," more recently known as the "Hodder House," has been sold by Princeton University to the construction firm of Lewis C. Bowers & Sons. The late 18th century residence, which stands at the southwest corner of Nassau and Harrison Streets, will be remodelled for occupancy later this winter by the Bowers engineering and sales office.

Julian E. Garney, one of the directors of "Operation Nassau," has been retained to advise on exterior colors to assure a return to "the original conception of the building as a gracious home," Raymond A. Bowers of the construction firm said. All of its warehousing, truck storage and similar activities will continue to be maintained at the Princeton Junction plant.

"Queen's Court" was once an annex of Evelyn College for women, which flourished during the mid-19th century on the street that now bears its name. The building Bowers will occupy has housed Miss Mason's School for several years, and classes will continue to be held there through the coming spring.

Conservation Program. Five discussion meetings have been planned for next week by the League of Women Voters. The topic on each occasion will be the administration of federal programs dealing with the development and use of natural resources, with particular emphasis on water, soil and forests. The public is invited to attend these sessions:

Monday, 3 p. m., Mrs. Alton Robinson, 65 Allison Road; 8:15 p. m., Mrs. Lynan Spitzer, 16 Prospect Avenue; Tuesday, 8:15 p. m., Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, The Dean's House; Wednesday, 10 a. m., Mrs. Stanley Howard, 105 FitzRandolph Road; 8:15 p. m., Mrs. Dana Munra, 158 Springdale Road. Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Eugene Wigner, Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, Miss Hazel Benjamin, Mrs. Gerald Bentley and Miss Lawrence Norris.

Miscellany. Zoning battles loom this winter, as a majority of residents in the block between Harrison and Markham seek to have that area changed from a B-2 to a B-1 business district and James Harrell of 401 Nassau Street moves to have that residence district zoned for business purposes so that he can sell the property to the Mather Funeral Home. Both topics were discussed by attorneys for the interested parties for the better part of an hour at Tuesday's borough council meeting, but action by the governing body will not be immediately forthcoming.

KAZ IS PICKED OVER BEN HOGAN AND STAN MUSIAL

By a margin of more than two-to-one over the runner-up (golfer Ben Hogan), All-American Dick Kazmaier was named "male athlete of the year" by the Associated Press. Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was third. Kazmaier received a total of 327 votes in balloting from all over the nation, to 157 for the National Open champion and 142 for the National League batting champion.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Winter Sports Action. All of Princeton's winter sports teams will be in action this weekend, all but the basketball squad at home. While Cappy Cappon's traveling quintet again hits the road for two games in northern New England, the swimming team will open its schedule against Navy Friday night; Tiger hockey players will face Harvard Saturday afternoon; the wrestlers will take on Penn; and the squash and fencing teams will see action against Williams and Stevens, respectively.

The major item of interest here will be the Baker Rink battle between Dick Vaughan's promising skaters and a young, eager Harvard aggregation. The contest, scheduled for a 2 o'clock start, will be the first Pentagonal League game for both teams.

Princeton is figured to win, presuming, of course, that the Orange and Black cares somewhat more about playing good hockey than it did during the Army game last week. The assumption is a logical one, and the Tigers will in all probability be ready to scrap all the way in launching their quest for the title they last held in 1941.

However, their performance against a totally inexperienced Army sextet produced no cause for optimism. The cadets were playing their first game, and showed a distinct lack of practice and of actual skating ability. Princeton opened up with four goals in the first period and was then content to coast through two rounds of uninspired play while the visitors held the scoring on an even basis. The result was a 6-2 victory for the Orange and Black that left its followers wondering if it could meet the torrid pace set in Pentagonal League contests.

Bill Gall was the day's play-maker, setting up half the victors' goals. He fed Derek Price twice and his brother Pete once; Jinx Cleaves, Tom Davis and Bill Osgood scored the other Princeton goals. Princeton's shooting was frequent but without undue deception. The Tigers peppered goalie Bob Mangels of the cadets with 45 shots, 39 of which he kicked out. Army, on the other hand, forced Blair Torrey and John Spencer to stop only nine shots, on seven of which they were successful.

Six Straight Setbacks. Somewhat surprisingly, Princeton's basketball team currently has the worst record of all members in the Eastern Intercollegiate League. The Tigers don't start circuit competition until Friday night at Hanover, but their present record of 3 and 6 is—Continued on Page 9 poorer than any of the other six teams in the circuit.

Princeton has now lost six straight, one of the longest streaks in the wrong direction compiled by a Tiger team in several seasons. The most recent setback came Saturday night when Pittsburgh added a 58-52 defeat to the five that had gone before.

The Orange and Black had led, 13-12, at the end of the first period, but was on the short end of a 27-23 count at the intermission. Fred Trichter paced a third-period rally that gave the Tigers a brief 40-39 advantage, as he sank five field goals in ten minutes.

However, as has been the fate of several players who paced the Princeton scoring, Trichter faded out and the Nassau quintet dropped behind in the closing minutes. From the one-point deficit, Pitt moved out to 43-40 and then 58-52 at the finish.

Fortunately for the somewhat hattered Princetonnians, this weekend they'll take on the two teams — Continued on Page 12

Ganges and the part it plays in the lives of people in that country. Given the benefit of Technicolor, the picture is unusually artistic. The work of Jean Renoir, who made "Grand Illusion," it has rivalled "A Streetcar Named Desire" for honors as the best picture of 1951. Performances daily at 7 and 9:15 p.m. and well worth seeing.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Distant Drums (Thurs.-Sat.) sends that veteran campaigner Gary Cooper through the Florida Everglades, battling gun runners supplying Seminole Indians and the savages themselves, as well as crocodiles and snakes in the swamps. Newcomer Mari Aldon provides the romantic interest in an adventure piece that moves along at a good clip.

Westward the Women (Sun.-Tues.) jams a tremendous variety of incidents and character portrayals into the saga of the journey made to California in mid-19th century by 141 women to wed mail order husbands. Guided by Robert Taylor, they experience many a hardship and adventure on the long trek before meeting the men who have picked them from posted daguerrotypes. Interest is maintained at a good pitch. (Second show at 9:15.)

I'll See You in My Dreams (Wed.-Sat.) is a musical that runs nearly two hours in telling the life story of songwriter Gus Kahn, composer of many a hit tune in the past two decades. Sentiment and melody abound in a leisurely-paced story. Doris Day, Danny Thomas and

Patrice Wymore are the principals. (Second show at 9:15.)

THE GARDEN

The Highwayman (Fri.-Sat.), set in the 18th century England, traces the adventures of a nobleman working incognito to aid debtors being sold into slave labor in the colonies. Philip Friend and Wanda Hendrix in a romantic adventure drama that has a good share of action.

Yellow Sky (Mon.-Tues.), a 1949 picture back for a second run, enjoyed considerable success as a drama with an unusual twist to its plot. Gregory Peck, Anne Baxter and Richard Widmark give the film better-than-average acting.

Beauty and the Beast (Wed.-Thurs.) is a French production (with English titles) by Jean Cocteau. Following the theme of the familiar tale, the picture has been made into a romantic piece with considerable appeal.

The Man with a Cloak (Fri.-Sat.) is a murder mystery set in New York's Greenwich Village of 1840. Joseph Cotten, and Barbara Stanwyck head the cast in a story that moves far too slowly, is filled with talk and is generally unconvincing.

The first prize ($15) for the best exterior Christmas decorations by residents of the Hillcrest area in Princeton township went to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Mueller of Laurel Road. The final nine miles of the New Jersey Turnpike will be dedicated Tuesday, giving motorists from this area a chance to travel all the way to the Holland or Lincoln Tunnels or the George Washington Bridge. Some drivers estimate the new highway cuts 30 minutes' time between here and points within New York City.

Dick Kazmaler will speak at the Father and Son Night planned by the High School PTA for Tuesday at 8. A circus acrobat; Jack Waish of Trenton, billed as the World's Champion Strong Man; hill-billy singers, and Professor Joseph Brown, sculptor and boxer, are others who will appear on an entertaining program arranged by Irwin Weiss for the occasion.

Nominations for the position of trustee of Princeton Hospital may be made until January 30 to E.

Franklin Bunn of Haslet Avenue. Five five-year terms are open; those whose terms expire are Mrs. Richard Lindabury; Mrs. Bradford Locke, Curtis McGraw, Norvell Samuels and Dr. Wilbur York.

The Social Service Bureau has set Monday, January 28, at eight o'clock as the date for its annual meeting in the First Presbyterian Church. Committee reports will be made, officers and directors elected and Miss Mabel Reeves, executive secretary, will outline the agency's work in aiding families in the Princeton area.

tractor you pay more than if you deal directly with the manufacturer. At Luron you can get porch or step railings for about $5 per linear foot; a table and four chairs would be $175 to $275.

Luron will also make grills for your barbecue; balconies and enclosures for your patio (such romance for New Jersey!) and even fire escapes, should you happen to need a new model.

A call to Bordentown 1079 will bring a craftsman to your door, ready to give free estimates. Any objects that you have in mind will be made to your individual taste, and of course there's a wide price range in these.

Small Size Blow Torch. Back in Princeton we found ourselves strangely fascinated by a small blowtorch they have at Wright's, 130 Nassau. We don't know any more about blow-torches than you do, but this thing looks good, especially for hobbyists.

No pressure pump, like old style torches, no fuel to pour and (probably) spill. High-pressure fuel for this baby comes in a little can. Fuel gone, you throw away the can, buy another.

It says on the box you can burn paint with it, solder, or even—and there's a picture of this, so help us—sing a turkey. Got $8.95?

New Designs in Earrings. Life is more distasteful at the Flower Basket, 156 Nassau, where they have a collection of earrings as sophisticated as any you'll find in town. Rebajas of New York makes them, in antiqued copper.

Long and dangly they are (1 1/2 inches) in three-dimensional abstract designs. One pair looks like a gyroscopic top. Another consists of two triangles, one set at right angles inside the other. Several pairs look like metal doodles. Considering their style, $3 and $3.60 (tax included) doesn't seem too much.

Still in the modern vein, the Flower Basket has enamel-on-copper earrings, made in Greenwich Village. They are concave discs (or squares) with designs splashed on in contrasting color. ($4.20 and $3.60). Some pairs have matching pins at $3.60.

Insulated Glasses. With New Year's gone, you may wince at the thought of bar equipment, but Stonewald's (13 Palmer Square) has insulated highball glasses you won't want to miss. They look like the usual clear glass tumbler, but are slightly thicker because of the way the glass is insulated.

A drink inside these tumblers stays cold, the ice stays solid, but your hand holds a dry, comfortably warm glass. No condensation at all, no coasters or jackets needed. You can get four for $8.

In silver plate by Napier, there's a bar gadget a foot long and two inches wide with a measured jigger sticking up at one end, like a pipe bowl. At the other end is a "coin" you spin to see who gets to mix the drinks! In the middle, the ubiquitous bottle-opener. Yours for $12.50.

Six cocktail recipes are engraved on the handle, but we're not sure about endorsing these: the Martini contains bitters!

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

voted most likely to finish at the bottom of the Eastern League. Dartmouth is improving, however, and Harvard knocked off the Tigers in Cambridge last March.

The Indians, who had a miserable 3-23 record last year (although they came within a point of sending Princeton into overtime on its own floor) are in their second year under Doggy Julian. Fred Gieg, 6-5, and the veteran Bill Biggs are the New Hampshire quintet's primary hopes for improvement. Actually, it's already been achieved, for the Indians have won five to date against eight defeats.

Harvard has lost big Ed Smith, runner-up to Ernie Beck in individual scoring last season, and has had to replace other graduates with sophomores. However, any E.I.L.

entry is tough to beat on its own floor and a double victory for the Tigers against even these supposed tail-enders will be a great comeback for Cappy Cappon's forces.

Fordham's unusually able aggregation will be here next Wednesday night, marking the Tigers' first home appearance in more than a month. It's unlikely to be graced with victory, however, for the Rams are currently boasting one of the strongest aggregations in the east.

The Nassau quintet will then go to Ithaca a week from Saturday before shutting down for nearly three weeks during the examination period. Penn jumped off to an early lead in the league with an 81-55 victory over Yale in the Palestra, and was expected to be joined at mid-week by Columbia, which was favored to top Harvard on the Morningside Heights court.

Glass on the Mat. It will be worth going from Baker Rink to Dillon Gymnasium when the hockey game is over to watch the Princeton wrestling team open its season against Penn. Not much is known about the Tigers' strength, and several weights will need major replacements because of last year's graduation losses.

However, one Bradley Glass is on hand again, and there isn't as good a college heavyweight wrestler in the U.S.A. as this 20-year-old junior from Northbrook, Illinois. As a sophomore, he took the Eastern and National intercollegiate titles, beating a big guy from Penn State (225-pound Homer Barr) who had

won the championship two years running.

A major factor in the line defensive play of Princeton's two unbeaten football teams, Brad is solidly built and powerfully rigged on a six-foot frame. He's never lost an intercollegiate match yet, and has high hopes that this season will permit him to preserve the record.

For those whose basic idea of wrestling is the travesty on sport
that television perpetrates nightly, intercollegiate bouts will prove both revealing and interesting. The match starts at 4, and will last slightly better than an hour.

Probable Olympic Performer.
When Princeton University's swimming team faces Navy this Friday evening in the Dillon gym pool, spectators will be watching one of the University's best bets to make the Olympic team in recent years.
He's lanky Bob Brawner, coach
Howie Stepp's record-shattering breaststroker.

A former N.C.A.A. interholder, and unbeaten in his specialty in dual meets for the past two years, Brawner now has his sights set on earning a place on the Olympic team. Unless something unforeseen happens, he seems sure to make it.
His only defeat last year came in the N.C.A.A. finals, when he was ill and not up to his top form.

Unfortunately, Bob is one of the few bright spots in the Princeton swimming picture, according to Stepp. While admitting that this year's team is 13 to 20 percent stronger than the 1951 squad, Stepp declares that, "the rest of the league is 30 to 35 percent improved.
At the best we're only mediocre."

Others counted upon to aid Brawner in piling up points are sprinter
Pat Craig and John Stone, both juniors. "But beyond them we have no depth," Stepp declares. Backstroker John Weber, diver Neil Christie and breaststroker Dan Nyhart are among the other lettermen returning to form the nucleus of this year's team.

School Teams in Action. Princeton High School's basketball team will return to action this Friday night, meeting Long Branch at 8
in a contest that will give the Little Tigers a chance to gain some measure of revenge against the school that ended its unbeaten string in football. The Blue and White, which will put a 3-1 record on the line,
will travel to Pennington Tuesday afternoon and will be at home again
next Friday to take on Hamilton.
Hun School returned to action
with a game against B.M.I. Wednesday and will go to Elizabeth Saturday to play Pingry. B.M.I. will play host to the Red and Black in a game at Bordentown next Wednesday.

Football letters at Hun went to Ronald Baker, James Fleming, Donald O'Neill, Michael Caruavale, Victor Perone, Anthony Samano and Clarence McCombe of Princeton;
Stephen Denman of Monmouth Junction; Clifford Luther of Plainsboro; and Dennis Beecher of Penns Neck. Beecher was elected honorary captain for the year.

Helena Rubinstein's New "Hand Bleach Cream" Fades Brown Spots!

Helena Rubinstein's new "Hand Bleach Cream" fades away ugly brown spots, keeps hands soft and white.

Who else but cosmetic genius Helena Rubinstein would think of bringing you a cream like this! It's so effective that even stubborn freckles and mottled brown spots will fade away. Yet it's gentle enough to smooth your hands and arms to new loveliness!

That's because marvelous new "Hand Bleach Cream" scientifically combines the clearing, whitening action of a bleach cream with the softening, beautifying effects of a superb cosmetic!

It's not greasy! Not sticky! A fragrant delight to use! You'll find Helena Rubinstein's "Hand Bleach Cream" the ideal way to lighten a faded tan, too. Use it on arms, neck and shoulders.
